World War I auxiliary calls Bay St. Louis home

BY JANET MCQUEEN
Bay St. Louis will be the site of national headquarters for the Veterans of World War I Ladies Auxiliary when the ribbon is officially cut Saturday.

Located in the Bay Mall on Highway 90, the small office houses 31 pictures of past national presidents of the organization, including Waveland resident Pauline Charing.

Charing currently serves as executive director of the 14,000 member organization and will operate the local office.

She left her Waveland home to serve as headquarters director in Alexandria, Va. When the organization's office was sold there, she opted to return home, taking auxiliary headquarters to her home state.

National senior vice president Rena Green of Oregon will be on hand for the ribbon cutting ceremony Saturday at 1:30 p.m. President Laurene Price of Virginia has already visited the new surroundings, while past president Helen Arnold helped Charing pack for the move.

Waveland ballot is complete

BY JACQUI COCHRAN
As of Friday, October 5, the city of Waveland added one more candidate to its upcoming Democratic primary election on November 6.

The Republican party will not hold a primary election prior to the December 4 general election. All Republican candidates are unchallenged within their party.

The final candidate to toss his hat into the ring was Donald C. "D.C." Harvill, who joins Jeanne M. Garcia and William H. Ruhr on the Democratic ticket for Alderman Ward 1.

The completed Democratic ballot reads as follows:

State officials impressed by findings during visit to Hancock fire stations

BY TRACI BONNEY

A visit to Hancock County's 12 fire districts Tuesday yielded positive results for state fire and insurance officials.

State Fire Coordinator Ray Gildea, State Insurance Commissioner George Dale and Larry Carr of the Mississippi Rating Bureau all said they were pleased with the strides being made in the county toward improving fire protection service.

"I'm impressed with the computerized record-keeping at the Bay St. Louis, Waveland and Diamondhead districts," Gildea said. "I'm also impressed with the record-keeping being done on paper in the other districts. There's a high level of organization here."

Gildea said the three state officials did not expect to find the advances they saw being made in the county. "Several districts are very close to achieving a class nine insurance rating. That may not sound like it means much, but it can mean a savings of 16 to 18 percent on insurance coverage for residents of a class nine district."

The visit to Hancock County is one of several the three men have made recently, Dale said. "We've probably visited 100 stations since we started six months ago."

Gildea said, "We made this visit primarily to be educated as to what's happening in the area. Our objective in visiting this and other counties is to build up a 'conversation' between people in fire services in the districts and in the state offices" so that ideas can be shared for improving fire protection.

Dale and Gildea were both surprised and pleased with the activities that awaited them at Post 58 in Standard. Gildea said, "We were able to be part of a ribbon-cutting ceremony that we knew nothing about beforehand. It was very moving."

Dale added, "Post 58 is one of the few fire departments I've seen that the community civic club started. It has become a focus for the area."

Along with Dale, Carr and Gildea on the visit were county fire marshal Jay Marsh, Rep. J.P. Compretta, Chancery Clerk Mike Necaise, Road Superintendent Sam Cuevas, and Supervisors Mike Ladner, Wilmer Seymour and Robert Peterson.

"It's been a good day," Dale said. "We've seen a lot of enthusiasm in each of the 12 departments, and a lot of pride of past accomplishments and future plans."

Linea Peninsular to lease Port Bienville warehouses

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

The Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission agreed at a Monday, October 8 meeting to lease two newly constructed warehouses to Port Bienville industry Linea Peninsular.

The warehouses will be leased for $3,700 a month plus one-twelfth of hazard insurance cost and all taxes, to the South American corporation for the next five years.

The commission spent $320,000 to build a 20,000-square-foot and 12,000-square-foot adjoining buildings. The warehouses are located directly across from the ship loading dock, providing easy access to incoming and outgoing vessels.

Commissioners decided not to relocate the old Port and Harbor office at a cost of $7,500, instead agreeing to advertise to sell the building to the highest bidder.

The commission was originally deeded the land with the provision that once the property ceased to be used for public service, it would revert back to the original owners.

Once the office trailer is removed, the land will be returned to the owner of the adjacent Waveland Resort Inn.

Commissioner Pete Beebe, chairman of the air show committee, was given permission by the board to commit up to $2,500 for advertisement contributions to EAA (Experimental Aircraft Association) and Gulf Coast Air Race Association, sponsors of the November 3-4 Air Show at Stennis Air Park.

Beebe voiced objection at the meeting to the board's contributing until a previous debt for security charges at last year's show are settled.

Parents, administrators at odds over clubs' moneymaking efforts

BY TRACI BONNEY

The question of fundraising apparently raised blood pressures as several parents attended a Monday Bay St. Louis-Waveland School Board meeting.

A group of about 10 parents and students appeared representing Distributive Education Clubs of America (DECA).

Parents of students in the local DECA chapter recently formed a booster club for the organization after students were told they could no longer engage in fundraisers during school hours.

The booster club wanted to hold a DECA dance to bring in some of the money the students will need to attend conventions and workshops during the year. Members of the club said, however, that Bay High School principal Roger James told them they could not use the school gym for a dance.

The parents further stated that other clubs, such as the band boosters, have been told the same thing.

Superintendent Robert

Magee stated that the school will sponsor only five dances each year, and any other dances must be club-sponsored. When those at the meeting indicated they understood this, the school board then brought up the question of supervision of dances.

The board members agreed that the school should not

In Memoriam

In Loving Memory Of
MARY C. TURCOTTE
 Died October 12, 1989

No further away than a picture,
 A smile or a remembered phrase,
 Our loved one lives in memories

So close in many ways.
 For how often does a sunset
 Bring nostalgic thoughts to mind
 Of moments that we shared with her

In days now left behind.
 How often has a flower
 Or a crystal autumn sky
 Brought golden recollections
 Of happy days gone by.

Yes, memories have a magic way
 Of keeping her always near.
 Ever close in mind and heart
 Is the one we hold so dear.

And through those magic memories
 We find comfort now to know,
 Your loving heart will watch
 Our babies you loved so

Lovingly cherished and remembered by Honey, Children,
 Grandchildren and Family

Card of Thanks

Words cannot adequately express our gratitude to those who extended sympathy so beautifully at the time of our sorrow.

We regret that we are unable to extend a personal note to each of you who sent cards and flowers for our father, Howard Moody, as your expressions of sympathy were forwarded to Alabama for the funeral services there.

Leave my pizza alone!

KILLING TIME

By Traci Bonney

Boy, am I glad I don't live in southern California!

I read an article last week about a little restaurant, in the health-conscious (or is it health-crazy?) community of Yorba Linda, that serves healthy pizza.

Healthy pizza? Sacrilege! The article says this restaurant in Richard Nixon's birthplace puts such things on its whole wheat crust pizza as "delicately seasoned fresh garden vegetables, broccoli, cauliflower, zucchini . . ."

How dare they! Can you imagine desecrating a pizza by putting things on it that are actually good for you? And whole wheat for the crust? Please, spare me the horrors!

Don't get me wrong; I like whole wheat bread products. In fact, I make my own wheat bread on occasion.

I also like some vegetables, like broccoli and cauliflower. I have been known to munch on a salad once in a while, and I currently have several boxes of frozen vegetables in my grocery inventory.

But — pardon me if I'm off-base here — pizza is not a salad on an edible plate.

When I go out to eat pizza, I can "eat healthy" or I can "pig out," the choice is mine. If I want to put fiber into my system and be good to my body, I can go to the salad bar (provided I don't go overboard on the toppings).

If, on the other hand, I want to gratify my taste buds and satisfy my craving for pizza (which is why I usually go out to eat pizza), I can order my favorite indigestion-inducer, a pepperoni pizza with extra pepperoni.

Granted, I don't do this very often. Much as I love pizza, I don't like indigestion. But once in a while, my taste buds overrule my common sense.

So when this occurs, I can rest assured that I will be able to go to the restaurant, order my pizza, pig out, and not worry one bit about being healthy.

Therefore, I depend on there being at the local pizza places a selection of thoroughly tasty, dripping-in-sauce-and-cheese, loaded-with-meat pizzas. So far I haven't been disappointed.

Of course, folks in Yorba Linda are probably more conscious about the food they eat than we are sometimes, especially since the air in southern California is barely breathable some days. Since they can't control the healthiness of what they breathe, they try to monitor their food instead.

Here, too, we tend to be more laid back about almost everything, including our health.

Some things, though, I can't be laid back about. What I like to eat is one of those things.

So, I repeat: Leave my pizza alone!

pany that owes us money," said Beebe to Richard Brown of EAA.

Beebe questioned Brown saying, "Gulf Coast had no problem paying for last year's security bill. Why can't EAA?"

The board questioned Brown as which of the two sponsors received the air show profits and which pay for the air show debts.

Brown stated the air show was a joint venture and that both groups were equal in responsibilities.

Commission director Harold "Buz" Olsen asked on behalf of the commission that EEA and the Gulf Coast Air Race Association submit an entire budget, "We want to see revenues, expenses...and other contributions."

Brown agreed to comply with the board's request.

Commissioner Nancy Gex expressed concern for Beebe's intent to withhold advertisement contributions saying, "We don't want to punish everyone involved."

Beebe agreed to the committee to meet in private with EAA and "iron out" the debt problem.

Brown expressed the need for this year's air show to be a success saying, "it will make or break us."

Brown offered 50 complimentary tickets to the board, but president Ronald Artigues declined saying, "I think you should sell them."

Gex added, "We will all be there."

The board thanked Brown for the gesture. The board gave approval to claims which shall be brought before the Hancock County Board of Supervisors. Claims included:

- general operating docket (items 1-98);
- railroad operating docket;
- industrial park revenue docket;
- general obligation bond revenue docket;
- general obligation bond of 1989 docket;
- terminal docket;
- general obligation bond of 1990 docket.

Upon approval by the board of supervisors all claims will be made public record.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

Saturday will be the big "Oktoberfest 1990" for the City of Bay St. Louis and the Bay St. Louis Business Association.

Some 40 merchants plan on participating in the fest which will be highlighted with a free Concert in the Park at 6 p.m. featuring German music.

Merchants are planning all types of special sales, and there will also be some special German foods available.

Theme for this new festival for the area is "Spend a Day in the Bay," and both breakfast and lunch will be available to festival-goers.

I am looking forward to such foods as sauerbraten, knackwurst, rotkohl, sauerkraut, bratwurst and others.

I guess I will have to ask my German sister-in-law about the many foods, so I will know what I am ordering.

I hope to see you at the Oktoberfest in the Bay Saturday.

I was talking to Libby Milner at the chamber on Wednesday, and she told me that she has had very few responses from the Waveland candidates for the political forums.

The forums, one for those seeking Waveland's aldermen seats, will be at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, Oct. 16, and the mayoral candidates' will be the next Tuesday.

As I have mentioned before, there appears to be a great interest in this year's election in Waveland, and I am sure the forums will be well attended.

Candidates are asked to call the chamber and confirm whether they will be there or not.

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce is gearing up for a "Red Ribbon Christmas" with the annual parade scheduled for December 1.

All groups are eligible to participate in the parade and are asked to begin preparations and to call the chamber to reserve a space in the parade.

Hancock County's high schools will all be playing away games in football this Friday.

State ranked Hancock High Hawks will travel to Long Beach. The Bearcats pulled a one-point victory over the Tigers of Bay High last Friday night.

Long Beach would like to put a blemish on Hancock's perfect record, so the Hawks better be prepared for the Bearcats.

The young Tigers of Bay High will journey away to play the Stone County Tomcats.

Stone County in recent years has had some very good teams, and it will take an all-out effort by the Tigers just to stay close to the team from Wiggins.

The Rock-A-Chaws of St. Stanislaus still rocking with joy over the big win of Salmen of Slidell last week will journey to play St. Martin's Yellow Jackets.

St. Martin gave the Hawks of Hancock a test last week losing only by a score of 12-7.

The Yellow Jackets will be waiting for St. Stanislaus and the Rocks will have to play an exceptional game to bring a victory home.

Pass Christian's Pirates will we away from home for the second week in a row when they travel to Pearl River Central.

The Pirates lost in the final seconds to a strong East Central squad last week.

Pass Christian needs to win this game to better their season's record.

I hope there will be many folks from the area who will be traveling with their respective teams this week.

Teams playing away from home really need good fan support to help them to a victory.

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

From the Mississippi Economic Council

A time for careful planning

A high risk of economic recession for late 1990 and early 1991 still exists, but with careful planning, business can avoid any serious consequences of a slowdown.

That's the expert opinion from a team of 75 of the nation's leading economists.

The team, pulled together by Eggert Economic Enterprises of Sedona, Ariz., reports its conclusions in a recently published "1991 National Economic Outlook."

The founder and chief economist for the group is Dr. Robert J. Eggert who is still remembered in Ford Motor Company circles as the market-research expert who named the "Mustang" automobile in 1954, one of Ford's most outstanding success stories.

The Eggert Economic Outlook warns of a pending recession, which is defined as a period of two quarters of negative growth in the Gross National Product.

Businesses may avoid the consequences of recession, he advises, by taking these steps:

- Keep an emergency cost-cutting plan on hand
- Maintain close control of inventories
- Limit capital spending outlays to areas of improved productivity
- Beware of locked-in, high, long-term interest costs.

And, Dr. Eggert advises, focus business planning on people, products, places, prices and promotions.

The good news from the team of nationally recognized economists is that, while recession may come, no one expects depression. And, even in recession, they are confident that businesses, with proper planning and management, can still be profitable.

America needs to be great maritime power again

For lack of U.S. commercial vessels, the U.S. Navy is considering chartering a large Soviet cargo ship to help haul U.S. military equipment to the Saudi Arabian desert. The Soviet ship would be one of at least 30 commercial ships chartered by the Navy for the Desert Shield operation and one of 22 that are foreign.

Delays and breakdowns have prevented a backup fleet of commercial vessels maintained by the Maritime Administration from reaching the Persian Gulf soon enough. As of Sept. 1, only 14 of 41 of our reserve vessels had reached their destination. One ship broke down and had to be towed to Saudi Arabia.

The National Defense Reserve Fleet is supposed to be kept in good condition—ready to deploy within 10 to 20 days if necessary. But the fact of the matter is that most of the fleet is made up of retired vessels, many of which were built before Jan. 1, 1946.

The delays and mishaps of the fleet are due to the age of the ships as much as an over optimistic schedule of how soon the reserve fleet can be mobilized.

This week, the Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee, of which I am a member, will be conducting a special hearing to discuss why our Reserve Fleet was not ready to resupply our troops in Saudi Arabia. During the hearing, I believe the committee will be concentrating on a larger problem, however, the decline of our Merchant Fleet.

At the end of World War II, America was the world's greatest maritime power. Today, we are almost a nonentity. According to figures in a recent syndicated column, America now has only 367 ships flying the U.S. flag compared to 2,332 in 1947.

Driven out of business by foreign competitors, we haven't built a merchant ship in this nation in the past three years. Ninety-seven percent of shipbuilding in America is done for the Department of Defense. Over half of the repairs are for the DoD.

I agree with former strategic sea-lift director Robert Kesteloot, who argues that if we have a strong Merchant Marine, we would not need a Ready Reserve. If you look at the history of the world, the greatest nations have always been great maritime powers.

I believe the Congress should take the necessary steps to ensure that our military reserve ships are indeed "ready" when it comes time for deployment.

I support a measure introduced by Armed Services Committee Chairman Les Aspin to authorize additional appropriations for what's called, fast sea-lift capability.

Congress appropriated $600 million for fiscal year 1990 to build a better model cargo ship that can more quickly reach its destination. During the recent round of budget cuts, the Administration proposed to apply the $600 million to a different program. Congress protected $375 million of the money—enough to build about three fast sea-lift ships.

Obviously, the situation in the Persian Gulf has shown us that we have to invest more in sea-lift readiness. And the Congress and the country must do more to invest in our own merchant fleet.

Tax credits to reward American businesses who buy American-made goods might be one way to stimulate growth of our merchant fleet.

Also, I've introduced legislation that would allow America to compete and give it the competitive edge in the $5 to $10 billion a year cruise ship industry.

Programs like these will help America become the world's greatest maritime power again.

Closing of Coastal recycling plant was short-lived

Who says you can't fight City Hall and win?

I have learned of the poignant story of how a non-profit recycling center in Biloxi, after having its lease on a surplus city-owned building arbitrarily yanked by the mayor, succeeded with an outpouring of public support in reversing the mayor's action.

The happy ending is that Gulf Coast Recycling, the largest such facility on the Coast and the state's only non-profit recycling center, is back in operation, handling a big chunk of the Coast's recyclable wastes.

Gulf Coast Recycling is a demonstration project of LAOS Inc., a member organization of the United Methodist Voluntary Services Network, which is dedicated to global understanding and advocacy in the protection of the environment and promotion of racial justice.

LAOS had been founded in Jackson in 1962 by two Methodist laymen, Francis Stevens and Bob Kochitzky. After having its national headquarters in Washington, D.C. for years, LAOS is now based in Ocean Springs.

Without warning, Mayor Pete Halat of Biloxi in June decreed that Gulf Coast Recycling's $1 a year lease on a city-owned dirt-floor tin building be cancelled, halting the two-year-old recycling operation.

Until Halat's heavy-handed move, he had never shown any interest in the important environmental work that Gulf Coast Recycling had been doing, says the Rev. Penny Penrose, executive director of LAOS. Suddenly Halat began mumbling about recycling and trying to find an excuse for taking back the building.

What Halat failed to comprehend was the depth of public support Gulf Coast Recycling had built through its two years of educational efforts in the Coast area to make people more conscious of protecting the environment.

The closing of the recycling facility got swift response from the Sun Herald in editorials sharply criticizing Halat's action. WLOX-TV weighed in with stories questioning the mayor's misuse of his legal authority.

When a public hearing on the issue came before the Biloxi City Council on July 16, some 250 people ranging in age from 19 to 90, many of them poor people who sell recyclables, jammed into the council chamber to back Gulf Coast Recycling.

"We didn't organize them...it just happened," says Penrose. Of course, Halat didn't believe that, and his angered expressions were captured on television footage of the hearing.

The city council responded by unanimously adopting a resolution declaring its intention to override Halat's decision. The next week Halat relented on the lease cancellation, in return for letting a $15,000 shed to store stolen property, his belated reason for taking back the recycling facility.

The shutdown of the recycling facility in June and July cost Gulf Coast Recycling $40,000 in losses, a big dent in the meager funds of LAOS, which subsidizes the recycling operation. Penrose had hoped to make the recycling operating self-supporting by the end of this year.

From January through August, Gulf Coast Recycling recycled 816.9 tons (1,633,970 pounds) of aluminum, newspapers, glass, plastic, mixed paper and cardboard and paid out $80,000 to people for their recyclable items.

In keeping with its mission of reconciliation, the recycling center, along with two satellite facilities in Waveland and West Biloxi, serves as an alternative employment project. It hires persons who are chronically unemployed, previously incarcerated, disabled, or women raising children alone.

When the center celebrated its reopening in early August, it put on a fund-raising bazaar, complete with a dunking booth at $10 a throw.

The first candidate for a dunking: Mayor Halat, who got doused by a ball thrown by his wife.

Halat was heard to say as he plopped into the water: "I will never, never, never, ever close down a recycling center again."

Mississippi's military serves country during crisis

Mississippi owes a debt of gratitude to its men and women in uniform.

Because of the current tension in the Middle East, we have called on National Guard and Reserve forces, as well as enlistees from Mississippi to serve their country in its time of need.

This is a critical time in America's history. Once again the United States has been challenged to help protect its own interests and those of its allies.

As soldiers, these brave men and women have a solemn responsibility to defend an unprecedented agreement, sanctioned by the United Nations.

This agreement vows to stand up to unwarranted aggression on the part of a dictator. Saddam Hussein's invasion of Kuwait is a slap-in-the-face to peace-loving people all over the globe. America's response needs to be strong, reasoned and unrelenting.

We cannot, for the moment, allow so-called leaders, such as Saddam Hussein, to go unchecked.

The thousands of Mississippi soldiers who are involved in Operation Desert Shield deserve our support, our dedication, our thoughts and our prayers.

As a veteran of the military, I understand and applaud their willingness to serve their country. We are a people who believe in freedom and in the need to sometimes defend our beliefs.

This is a time when our nation must stand proud behind our men and women overseas. They are our frontline forces in the defense of liberty, guarding against its violation.

Every community in our state has been touched by recent events that have taken our people from us, temporarily, to do what is right, fight for what is just and help when our help is needed.

All Mississippians are praying for their safe and quick return and for a successful resolution to this crisis. People in Mississippi and all across the United States are depending on our men and women in this crisis. Through their actions, these soldiers have earned our respect, our support and our thoughts.

Our prayers go with every one of them, and we wish them Godspeed in their return.

Several residents of Ramoneda Street in Bay St. Louis appeared at a City Council meeting Tuesday night complaining of stray dogs, raw sewerage in the street and a proposed Third Street exit for Alcan Cable Company's plant.

Hancock County Supervisor Sam Perniciaro of District Four reports opening of a community center and playground Friday with public ceremonies at 1 p.m. The new center is located at the intersection of Highways 603 and 43, Kiln.

Mayor Garfield Ladner was authorized Tuesday night by Waveland's aldermen to execute acceptance of the U.S. Public Health Service's offer of $177,000 toward cost of the town's proposed sewerage treatment plant. Estimated cost of the plant is $595,000.

The first real live rocket for static firings at NASA's Mississippi Test Facility is scheduled to arrive here the weekend of Oct. 16-17. North American Aviation's S-II-T stage left Seal Beach, Calif., last Friday on its 4,000 mile journey by water via the Panama Canal for the Michoud Facility in New Orleans. On arrival there late next week it will be transferred from the sea-going USS Point Barrow to a river barge for transport along the Intra-Coastal Waterway and up the East Pearl River to MTF.

Marked with impressive ceremonies, the flag raising at the county school, Edwardsville, Friday morning, was largely attended and provided an affair of interest and manifestation of patriotism. Mrs. Mamie Sylvester, principal of the school, had arranged the program, which opened with the singing of America and the pupils marching out to the flag pole. H.D. Kirkpatrick Jr., Andrew Kirkpatrick, Russell Chapman and James A. Evans, the Bay High band quartet under the direction of W.C. Morgan, played the Stars Spangled Banner as A.J. Favre, "Jr." Tanguis, Lester Bourgeois and Dick Poolson raised the flag.

C.C. Garner, secretary, Bay St. Louis Lions Club, announces the club is soliciting toys of all kinds to be reconditioned in order that they may be distributed to children who would otherwise be deprived for Christmas.

"Clean-Up Day for County Schools" - To the teachers of Hancock County: I have decided this year to designate October 15th as clean-up day and beauty day and will ask the teachers and all the pupils in the various schools of the county to observe this day very closely. In order to make this day a success, I would suggest that you get all the pupils and as many of the patrons as you can enlist in the cause, have some to bring rakes, some to bring spades while others may bring an ax or two or anything that you can work with in the line of a tool. Cut down and clear away all the old underbrush on the school grounds and dig up the old stumps, if any, trim the trees, sweep the grounds and let us beautify and make our schools and school grounds as attractive and neat as possible. Some time after the day has been observed I am going to visit every school in the county and make a thorough investigation to see which one has made most improvement. With every good wish for success. I am cordially yours, John Craft, superintendent of education.

Carroll Avenue - This is destined to be the handsomest avenue in town, due probably to its location and the progressiveness of its residents and those contemplating becoming such. Before many more buildings are erected on this avenue, we would suggest that its property owners give a few more feet of their land whereby the street may be made wider. Narrowness is a great trouble with the rest of our streets, but as this one is not yet thoroughly built we make this suggestion knowing that it can be done with but little trouble and small or no expense at all. Then small shade trees could be placed on each side of the street at a reasonable distance, making it, as we state above, the most handsome avenue in Bay St. Louis.

Ashman is candidate in Waveland Ward 2

Sue Sheffield Ashman, 39-year-old businesswoman, has announced her candidacy for Ward 2 alderman in the general election slated for Dec. 4. She is the mother of two sons, Anthony Sheffield and Jonathon Sheffield, the daughter of Dix and Anne Ashman and sibling of Dixie Ashman and Lee Ashman, all Waveland property owners.

SUE ASHMAN

Ashman moved to Waveland from Canada as a child in 1959, gained her American citizenship in 1965 and has remained active in the community ever since.

Starting business as a self-employed painting contractor, she progressed to designing and building homes throughout the city. She is involved in real estate sales, management, and is broker of Ashman-Mollere Realty located on Coleman Avenue.

A life member of the Million Dollar Club, she is a member of West Gulf Coast Board of Realtors and a member of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce.

She attends Christ Episcopal Church and is a Nereids captain's aid, in charge of preparing floats for the Krewe of Nereids parade.

Having spent most of her adult life promoting the benefits of residing in Waveland, and enticing both families and business people to invest in the area, she is well aware of the needs of the community.

"I see some of the greatest needs throughout the entire community as cleanup and beautification, along with installation of sewer and water systems in all areas.

"We are dependent on sales tax dollars and must take advantage of all the available resources to promote tourism, at the same time providing the necessary city services for existing and new family homes.

"We not only need to bring more sales tax dollars into the area, but to put those same dollars to work more wisely and draw more visitors and residents to our city," she said.

"Waveland needs to be restored to being the clean, pleasant and inviting area we once were, offering a good family living environment along with the business and work advantages.

"We need not only citizen involvement where the alderman listens to people's suggestions and problems, but an alderman also willing to put out time and effort towards making the needed changes."

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire
Caire

The French language is so lovely, especially when it comes to food descriptions; leftover Roast Beef, for example, translates into French as "Miroton de Boeuf" and you never ever just heat it up in a skillet until it's leathery and dry, but must do it the French way for it to be worthy of its name! Here's:

MIROTON DE BOEUF

4 to 6 slices of leftover roast beef, (oven-roasted or pot-roasted)

3 to 4 slices bacon, cubed
2 medium onions, chopped
2 Tbsp. chopped parsley
1 bay leaf

Dash of thyme to your taste
Pepper, salt to your taste
2 Tbsp. vinegar (preferably red wine vinegar)

2 to 3 Tbsp. beef stock

In a heavy skillet, over moderate heat, fry the bacon and onion. Add a bay leaf and dash of thyme, along with the pepper and salt and parsley. While you're busy stirring the pan, splash in the vinegar and beef stock (or dissolve a bit of bouillon in water, and add this instead, if you have no beef stock on hand).

Heat all this up together for a minute or so (until hot) before settling the leftover beef into the skillet, spooning the sauce over the meat. Believe me, simple as this sounds, it's far more than yesterday's roast beef dressed up in an onion sauce, ask any Frenchman!

And, so much more tasty than the methods of so many cooks in reheating beef or other meats.

The secret, as any French chef will tell you, is that you MUST not simply reheat the cold beef along with the sauce as that toughens it. Instead, you must first heat the sauce well, then add the slices of leftover beef, for it's difficult to warm up cold beef without toughening it.

Tiny boiled potatoes, peeled and drizzled with olive oil and flecked with parsley, go well with this, as do petit pois or green beans. (Two to four servings, depending upon appetites).

(Copyright, 1990, Katharine D. M. Caire)

Mildly sweet cheesecake recipe is perfect for special occasion brunch

Have you ever been charmed by the 'cheesecake mystique'? It often strikes in a bakery, deli or restaurant.

It's the false belief that the delicious slice of cheesecake you've just consumed cannot be duplicated in your own kitchen.

In fact, a cheesecake is one of the easiest cakes there is to bake. It doesn't require secret recipes, special techniques or gourmet ingredients.

If you're disbelieving, why not prepare Breakfast Cheesecake? It's a not-too-sweet version that can be practical or fancy, as you wish.

Weighing in at about 270 calories per slice and providing about 1/4 of your daily protein needs, Breakfast Cheesecake makes a tasty early-morning meal-on-the-run.

Colorful and elegant, it can also be served for a weekend breakfast treat or special-occasion brunch.

Breakfast Cheesecake makes use of readily available ingredients and a simple method. The filling ingredients blend together in one easy step—just remember to scrape down the sides of the bowl occasionally for even mixing.

The topping also requires little preparation and you can vary the flavors of yogurt and fruit to suit your tastes.

BREAKFAST CHEESE-CAKE

12 to 16 servings
1 cup finely ground granola (about 4 1/2 oz.)

1 egg, separated
2 packages (8 oz. each) reduced-calorie or regular creamcheese, softened

1 carton (15 oz.) low-fat ricotta cheese OR 1 carton (16 oz.) small-curd cottage cheese

1 cup sugar

6 eggs

2 teaspoons vanilla

1 carton (8 oz.) blueberry-flavored yogurt

1 cup fresh or thawed frozen blueberries

Stir together granola and 1 egg white until thoroughly blended. Press granola mixture over bottom of lightly greased 9 x 3-inch springform pan. Chill.

In large mixing bowl, beat together creamcheese, ricotta cheese, sugar, 6 eggs, 1 egg yolk and vanilla until smooth. Pour into chilled crust.

Bake in preheated 375° oven until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean, about 70 to 80 minutes. Cool on wire rack. Chill until firm, at least 8 hours or overnight. To serve, remove rim of pan. Spread yogurt over top. Sprinkle blueberries over yogurt. Refrigerate any leftovers.

Toast to Coast is October 26

Special to the Echo

For the seventh consecutive season, Coast Episcopal Schools Parent Teacher Organization will present the "Toast to the Coast," a gala evening celebrating life on the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

The festivities will be held on the spacious grounds of a historic beachfront home—this year's at 533 East Scenic Drive, Pass Christian, on Friday, Oct. 26 at 7 p.m.

Co-chairmen Rachel Taylor and Candy Murphy promise this year's Toast will be even more exciting than before. Guests will be treated to specialties from more than 30 Gulf Coast restaurants and caterers (look for your favorite chef); an art exhibit showcasing the area's best talent, both new and established; silent and live auctions offering fabulous trips, clothing, jewelry, art and antiques, and music under the stars by Marcia Ball.

For years, Toast to the Coast has continued to grow into one of the social highlights of the season, and is now unrivaled as the best fundraiser of the Gulf Coast.

Guests arrive from Waveland to Ocean Springs and from New Orleans, Jackson, Mobile and all points in between. No event on the Mississippi Gulf Coast has been able to capture the essence of all that makes life here on the Coast so unique and present it in such a beautiful setting of twinkling white lights, with the aroma of pungent Mississippi foods, and music drifting through the night.

Other committee chairmen contributing to the success of Toast-1990 are Alice Tor, restaurants; Jamie Buckley and Pat Perry, live auction; Blair Lambert and Kathy Mathews, silent auction; Marlene Saccoccia, children's art contest; Mary Lee Stonecipher, art; David and Judy Taylor, beverage; Martha Levert, invitations; Kathleen Theriot, tickets and patrons; Lucille Mortimer, raffle; Fred and Roy May, setup; and Susan Carron, publicity.

For further information of Toast to the Coast, call Coast Episcopal Schools at 452-9442. Tickets, at $45 each, will be available by mail or at the door.

the salad bowls, that's how tasty it was. I can't for the life of me fathom just exactly what was in the dressing, a Plaque family secret, but I'm experimenting. Or better still, I'll keep returning to The Reef and ordering a bit of greens with a lot of house dressing!

Hester did reveal that Courvoisier (cognac) and Dijon mustard were major components of this oh-so-tangy and delectable dressing. As for other ingredients, I couldn't quite puzzle them all out; that will take a lot of tastings, so I'll just have to keep going back to this delightful restaurant, won't I?

When the Prime Rib orders arrived at table, just exactly the way my dinner companion and I wished—not too rare, not overdone, just "in the middle"—we wondered how we'd manage to eat so much!

However, we all but demolished our plates, as we kept having "just a bit more" of the robustly seasoned beef, with accompanying accents of horseradish sauce and the au jus sauce, just the heavenly, garlicky juices from the meat as it cooked!

(I did bring a bit home in a take-out box, as I wanted to save room for the Key Lime Pie.) And I'm so glad that I did, as the pie was sublime, just the right balance between sweetness and tartness.)

And, let me not forget to mention the baked potato served along with the Prime Rib, with sour cream and all the "fixings" in abundance, so that potatoes and sour cream came out even! And, the hot rolls, a fitting accompaniment to such a meal.

Known for its first-rate and varied menu offerings, from beef to seafood, The Reef offers nightly and luncheon specials, and a light menu as well. And, every Wednesday and Thursday night, "All You Can Eat Catfish" plates, from 4 to 10 p.m. at a special price. Senior citizens receive senior citizen discounts on their dinner orders, as do children.

Catfish also reigns supreme at The Reef, ranging from fried whole or filets, and catfish with crabmeat stuffing, to nuggets, and there's even a Four-Way Catfish Platter so that you may have a taste of it all! There's also a roster of choices in flounder, shrimp, oysters and crab dishes, as well as fried chicken and softshell crawfish when available, along with a variety of beef and seafood Po-Boys and the sandwiches.

The courvoisier (Cognac) Chicken is an everyday lunch special, boneless chicken breast, marinated in cognac, olive oil, wine and spices, then charbroiled or fried! Catfish, New York Strip and hamburger steak are other midday offerings. And red beans and rice on Mondays!

There's also a full-service bar. Take a short ride out the highway to The Reef, on the Jourdan, at 15152 Highway 603. You'll be happy that you did so! We were!

Ocean Springs man named cook-off winner

Larry Futral of Ocean Springs won $2,000 by placing third in the indoor conventional category of the 1990 National Beef Cook-Off Sept. 20-22 in Seattle, Wash. Contestants from every state in the country competed in the event.

The dish created by Futral, "Grecian Steak Rolls," featured boneless beef top sirloin steak with feta cheese, Greek seasonings and red wine.

A minister of music and activities at a local church, Futral and his wife are both seasoned Cook-Off contestants. His wife competed in the 1986 Cook-Off, and he represented Mississippi in the 1987 event.

Sixty-four persons competed in the 17th annual National Beef Cook-Off. Next year's event will be Sept. 22-24 in Colorado Springs, Colo. For more information, write to National Beef Cook-Off, 444 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago, Ill. 60611.

The National Beef Cook-Off is sponsored by the American National Cattle Women Inc. in cooperation with the Beef Industry Council and the Beef Board. National contributors are Tappan and Kingsford.

GRECIAN

STEAK ROLLS

Preparation time: 50 min.
Cooking time: 8 to 13 min.
1 1/2 pounds boneless beef top sirloin steak, cut 3/4 inch thick
1 1/2 teaspoons Greek seasoning, divided
3 tablespoons olive oil, divided
1/2 lemon
4 ounces feta cheese
1 1/2 teaspoons chopped fresh mint or 1 teaspoon dried mint leaves
1/4 cup dry red wine
1/2 cup heavy cream

1 package (5 to 7 ounces) yellow rice mix, prepared according to package directions
Fresh mint sprigs
Thin lemon slices

Trim excess fat from boneless beef top sirloin steak. Lightly pound steak to 1/4-inch thickness. (If muscles separate when pounded, overlap pieces and pound edges together.) Sprinkle one side of steak with 1 teaspoon Greek seasoning; turn steak over.

Drizzle 1 tablespoon olive oil and squeeze juice from 1/2 lemon evenly over second side of steak; sprinkle with remaining 1/2 teaspoon Greek seasoning. Finely crumble feta cheese over steak; sprinkle with chopped mint.

Roll steak up tightly, starting at long side, securing roll with small round wooden picks. Cut roll crosswise into 1 1/2-inch thick slices, securing each slice with a wooden pick.

Heat remaining 2 tablespoons olive oil in large frying pan over medium-high heat until hot. Add steak slices, cut side down; cook 5 to 8 minutes or until lightly crusted on outside and medium-rare to medium on inside, turning once.

Remove steak slices from pan and remove wooden picks; keep warm. Add wine to pan; cook over medium heat, scraping up brown meat bits. Continue cooking 1 to 2 minutes or until wine is reduced by 1/2. Stir in cream; continue cooking 2 to 2 minutes or until sauce is thickened slightly. Place rice on platter; arrange steak slices on rice. Spoon sauce over steak slices.

Garnish with mint sprigs and lemon slices. 6 servings.

Waveland's Post 77 sponsors essay contest

American Legion Post 77, Waveland, and the American Legion Auxiliary are conducting an essay program among elementary schools, grades one through six.

Both public school districts, Hancock and Bay St. Louis-Waveland, are participating in writing an essay on "voting." Each class teacher may choose a form of the topic appropriate for each age group.

Medals will be awarded to first place winners and ribbons to second to fourth place winners in each grade level in each district.

There is a need to impress the importance of voting to children at an early age. We hope they'll send the message home as many parents have become lax in this privilege," said Amelia Killen, co-chairman.

Reminder pamphlets will also be sent home with the children reading "Mom and Dad... Vote." Winners at each school will be announced.

Essay program

Education committeemen Richard Bessey and Amelia Killen of American Legion and Auxiliary Post 77, Waveland, announce their upcoming voting essay contest. Elementary grades one through six in both Hancock County and Bay St. Louis-Waveland school districts will participate.

Watercolor workshop features Keith Andry

The Gulf Coast Art Association will sponsor a watercolor workshop on Oct. 27 and 28 at the Handsboro Art Center, located on Lorraine Road near Pass Road in Gulfport.

The instructor will be Keith Andry, NWA, a nationally and internationally known artist who is listed in American Artists of Renown.

He has been the recipient of many prestigious awards, has had 25 one-man shows, and won high acclaim from art critics and artists of note.

The class will be limited to 25 participants and be on a first-come basis. Reservations are secured by receipt of check for $40, made payable to Gulf Coast Art Association. Send checks to Nel Ducomb, Workshop Chairman, P.O. Box 2057, Bay St. Louis, MS 39521.

Workshop time will be from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. beginning with a demonstration by Mr. Andry each morning.

St. Stanislaus breaks ground for addition

St. Stanislaus High School broke ground Thursday, Oct. 11, for a new addition to the school which will include seven classrooms, a computer lab and a guidance area.

The construction will take place to the front of the present building and is scheduled for completion on May 15, 1991. The complete addition will be built at a cost of $775,000.

Original plans called for the removal of two ancient oak trees, which will be spared with the current plan.

The architect is George Saunders, who was the architect of the present school building in 1971. The engineer is Bill Fleming with Morphy, Makofsky, Mumphrey, Masson, and the construction firm is Brice Building Company Inc.

Among those attending the groundbreaking ceremony were Bishop Joseph Howze of the Diocese of Biloxi; Brother Bernard Couvillion, provincial superior of the New Orleans Province of the Brothers of the Sacred Heart;

Brother Paul Montero, president of St. Stanislaus; George Saunders, architect; Bill Fleming, engineer; and Gerald Faulkner, representing Brice Building Company.

Gordon Boh, a 1978 graduate of St. Stanislaus, represented Edward Favre, mayor of Bay St. Louis; and Paul Johnson, Student Council president, spoke on behalf of the student body of St. Stanislaus.

dent body and faculty were present, and the school band performed at the ceremony.

Montero said, "The main purpose in adding classrooms to our campus is to allow greater flexibility in scheduling and to reduce the number of students in each class by expanding from three sections per grade level to four sections.

"This will simultaneously allow us to accept more day students into the school, contributing to our commitment to make quality Catholic education available to as many of our area families as possible."

Beauvoir to host Fall Muster

The fourth annual Fall Muster is scheduled for Oct. 20-21 at Beauvoir, The Jefferson Davis Shrine. Sponsored by the institution in conjunction with the Third Mississippi Infantry Regiment, the event will create a Confederate camp of instruction of early 1861.

The event is expected to draw approximately 200 "living historians" from four states. These historians will donate their time to transfer Beauvoir back in time from the 20th to the 19th century.

Both men and women will participate in the activities. Infantry, artillery, cavalry, medical and civilian portrayals are planned.

The weekend event will emphasize the South's preparations for war and particularly Mississippi's role in those preparations. Highlights of the muster will include military drills, a recruiting drive, Confederate church service and political speeches.

The 12th Louisiana Regimental String Band will provide 19th century-period music with concerts on both Saturday afternoon and Sunday morning.

Skirmishes between the Mississippi troops and Northern soldiers are scheduled for the afternoon of both days.

In the words of Beauvoir director Keith Hardison, "Fall Muster constitutes an important part of the interpretive program of the site by allowing history to come alive before the eyes of visitors."

"It is a unique experience to see a Confederate artillery battery in action or a bayonet charge. There is an added dimension when you can experience history first-hand."

Hardison, reflecting on the purpose of the institution and the organization which has operated it for almost half a century, added, "It is the desire of those connected with Beauvoir to educate the public accurately concerning southern history."

The muster, when added to exhibits, tours and other special programs, helps to accomplish that institutional goal."

Fall Muster activities are scheduled for 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 20, and 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Sunday, Oct. 21. Admission, which includes a tour of the home and museums, will be charged.

Beauvoir, The Jefferson Davis Shrine, is a Mississippi Historic Landmark and National Historic Landmark property of the Mississippi Division, Sons of Confederate Veterans. Located on U.S. Hwy. 90 in Biloxi, it is open daily.

Slidell Little Theatre sponsors commercial classes

Slidell Little Theatre is sponsoring a six-week commercial acting class beginning Monday, Oct. 22.

The class is structured to prepare students to act in TV commercials. It will include one-on-one teaching and on-camera study.

Classes will meet weekly at Northshore Regional Medical Center on Mondays from 7:15 to 9:15 p.m. It is open to anyone age 10 through senior citizens. Class size will be limited to 15 students.

Tuition is $100 per student. Parents who wish to monitor the class with their children will be charged an extra $25. All proceeds go to Slidell Little Theatre's new building fund.

"Every actor's dream is to be paid for practicing his or her craft," noted Bob Fry, instructor. "But few know how to get hired to do commercials or what to do if called for an audition."

To correct that problem, the course of study will explain how actors are hired, how to connect with an agent, how to audition singly and with other actors, the business requirements of commercial acting, how to prepare photographs and resumes and more. "Keep in mind," Fry points out, "that there is no single type or look required for commercial acting." You don't have to be a pin-up queen or a hunk to be in demand. Just watch some commercial and see for yourself.

Fry has worked in more than 70 commercials, either on-camera or as a voice over. He has studied commercial acting in Los Angeles where one of his instructors was Gordon Jump, the station manager on WKRP Cincinnati and now the Maytag spokesperson.

Those wanting to enroll or seeking additional information should call 641-5183 in Slidell.

NASA technology used in creation of commercial business

An example of the success of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's (NASA) Office of Commercial Programs is the announcement that the Institute for Technology Development (ITD), in Jackson, has created a wholly owned for-profit subsidiary to expand the commercialization of space in the fields of remote sensing and geographic information systems.

The subsidiary, Digital Visions Inc., is an information service company providing satellite derived and other geographic data to forest, agricultural, environmental, and other land management companies and institutions.

The Space Remote Sensing Center (SRSC) of ITD, located at Stennis Space Center, is the driving force behind the creation of Digital Visions.

SRSC is headed by Dr. George May and is one of only 16 centers for the Commercial Development of Space (CCDS).

The CCDS program was created to foster the transfer of space-based technology to the commercial sector. SRSC's creation of Digital Visions demonstrates the commercial viability of a space technology applications development program supported by private industry, the State of Mississippi, and NASA's CCDS program.

expect the same person or people to supervise every dance. They pointed out the need to establish which faculty members and administrators would be entrusted with the responsibilities of supervising dances and securing the gym afterward.

Board president Chuck Benvenuti said he and Magee also would expedite their work on formulating policy concerning use of the high school's gym and new multi-purpose facility.

Meanwhile, Magee said, the parents would have to follow established policy for requesting a dance. The policy calls for the group to make a formal written request to Magee, who then takes it before the board, which votes on it.

The DECA boosters also mentioned an upcoming trip to a convention in Orlando, Fla. They said they had made a written request to James in August, but had not been given an answer.

According to district policy, the school principal must receive permission requests for students to take trips, since they would be missing school time. The principal is then supposed to turn that request in to Magee, who gives it to the board.

Since the trip is scheduled for the middle of November, and the DECA boosters must finalize arrangements before the November school board meeting, the board gave Magee authority to approve the trip, pending a written request.

Magee said Wednesday that he had received the request and approved the trip.

In other matters, the board heard a statement from agenda requestor Phyllis Skinner, president of the Bay Middle School PTO, concerning standards used in testing and hiring teacher aides. She urged the board to continue trying to upgrade standards and never to consider lowering them.

Skinner said she was making this statement to the board at the request of the PTO because of information some of its members had received about the issue.

The board members listened to Skinner without commenting, with the exception of Willie Bradley, who asked if she was basing her speech on a specific allegation that the district was planning to lower standards. She said she wasn't, then reiterated her statement.

In other business, the board: —accepted bids for the sale of two school buses;

—approved single source suppliers for the district's Drug-Free Schools program;

—accepted two resignations;

—approved the hiring of Sandra LaFontaine as a teacher aide for the special education classes at Waveland Elementary and Roxanne Moore as a high school chemistry/physics teacher; —and heard a brief report from Dr. Betty Jones explaining the district's outcome performance report for the 1989-1990 school year.

Jones told the board that the performance of students on basic skills and achievement tests had improved over the last two years. Where the district had met 17 of 18 standards two years ago, it met all 18 last year. The board adjourned to Nov. 12.

When It Comes To Auto Financing,

* Hancock Is Your #1 Bank.

During the first eight months of 1990, more people in south Mississippi financed their cars and trucks through Hancock Bank than any other local or out-of-state Bank. More than the Credit Unions. More than the Savings & Loans. Even more than two of the big three auto manufacturer's credit corporations.

Surprised? You shouldn't be. Hancock Bank has consistently financed more automobiles than any other bank in south Mississippi since the 1930's.

And it doesn't matter whether you work directly with the dealer, or with your loan officer at your local branch, you will get the same competitive rate.

Competitive Rates on Auto Loans...

One more reason why people expect more from Hancock Bank.

Raiders end season on winning note

Adam Farragut, replacing injured tailback Rusty Necaise, rushed for 153 yards on 20 carries to help Coast Episcopal overcome a 14-0 deficit and defeat Foley, Ala. 20-14.

The Raiders, who entered the game without starters Necaise, Damion Lawyer and Clay Adams, relied heavily on the rushing game picking up 253 yards on the ground.

Foley scored first on a 35-yard touchdown pass midway through the second quarter. The two-point conversion was good, and the score was 8-0.

On the final play of the first half, Foley again scored, this time on a 30-yard run. The two-point conversion failed and Foley led 14-0 at the intermission.

The Raiders bounced back in the third quarter when quarterback Bruce Hull ran in from five yards out. The two-point conversion was not good, and Foley led 14-6.

The fourth quarter began with Farragut, running 35 yards for the touchdown with Dave Hagan throwing to Farragut for the two-point conversion.

With 3:58 left in the contest, the Raiders got the go-ahead touchdown on a one-yard run by Hull, making the score 20-14.

"These kids had to overcome a lot to win this game. We were playing without three starters on offense and defense," said Raider coach Jack Hutchinson.

"The officiating was the worst I've ever seen. I've never seen officials so obvious in trying to determine the outcome of the game. That just made the victory that much sweeter."

Hutchinson said, "The whole year has been a challenge for everyone at Coast Episcopal, and the kids have met every challenge. Who would have thought we would end the year 5-3?"

Raiders rally for come-from-behind win

District champ Hawks travel to Long Beach Friday night

Special to the Echo
By Belinda Liles

The undefeated Hawks travel to Long Beach Friday night to finish off their district play. Hancock High School won the District VIII AAA title last Friday after defeating the St. Martin Yellow Jackets 12-7.

Even though this game against Long Beach is a district game, the Hawks won the title by having beat all other contenders in head-to-head play.

When asked about the upcoming game, Hawk head coach Irvin Favre replied, "Anything can happen. This is a team that has only one win this year. Their win against Bay St. Louis last week gave them a taste of victory and that helps to fire a team up."

"We can't let our guard down now. They know we are at the top and would really like to knock us off."

"We will have to play hard defensively. Lyons, the Long Beach quarterback, is their 'do-it-all man.' He has speed and he likes to throw those short fast passes. He runs the option really well," said Favre.

Defensively, Long Beach likes to stunt and blitz to try and throw their opponent off guard. "This kind of defense is like gambling," Favre added. "They might catch you running the wrong play, but in turn, you can catch them out of position."

"We need to improve offensively. We had the ball in scoring position several times during last week's game but we were unable to capitalize," said assistant coach Tim Favre.

"Instead of breathing easy, we found ourselves having to hold on in the last few minutes of the game."

Friday night's kickoff will be at 7:30 at Long Beach High School.

Rocks in "must win" situation

Special to the Echo
BY TOM ACKERMAN

Although the St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws still have four games left on their 1990 regular-season schedule, Friday's trip to St. Martin to face the Yellow Jackets could well determine their post-season fate.

Holding on to a 1-1 district record, with a loss to Hancock and a win over Long Beach, the Rocks must defeat the Jackets this Friday to keep their hopes alive.

"It's a must win game," Rock head coach Ken Lyons said as he worked to prepare his team for their third district contest of the season.

The Yellow Jackets are 0-2 in district and 2-4 overall, but, according to Lyons, "They're the toughest 2 and 4 team on the coast."

St. Martin's district losses came at the hands of Hancock High and d'Iberville. Hancock has virtually sewn up the first-place spot in district with only one more division contest against Long Beach.

Without singling out specific

St. Martin players, Lyons points to the entire team: "They have a very physical team," he said, looking to what would be needed for a win. "They play power defense some of the time. They pushed d'Iberville all over the field but lost to them on lapses, penalties, and their kicking game."

The question for the Rocks now is can they rebound after a particularly physical game against the Salmen Spartans last week? In a grueling effort, the SSC defense held Salmen scoreless, and the offense eeked out only 6 points.

"Salmen had a better team than we thought," Lyons said, noting the tremendous effort his team had to expend for the win. "Of course," he added with a smile, "they said the same thing about us."

Before last Friday, Salmen had only lost to Slidell. "And," Lyons added, "Slidell's beaten everybody they've played."

Friday's district 8-4A game pitting the Rocks and the Yellow Jackets kicks off at 7:30 at St. Martin.

Bay High Tigers prepare to battle Tomcats Friday

BY TRACI BONNEY

Don't be surprised if the Bay High Tigers add a slingshot and five smooth pebbles to their gear for this week's game against the Stone County Tomcats.

Tiger coach Rocky Gaudin said, "I think the game is kind of like David and Goliath. I see very little to our advantage in this game, and everything to their advantage."

"Coming off a loss like last week's, and playing a tough team like Stone County, is a really difficult situation. Stone County is the most talented team we play. They have as many pure athletes as any school in their division. They can play any 3A team, just about all the 4A teams and most of the 5A ones."

The Tomcats are 4-2 for the season, and both their losses have been away games. This week's contest against the Tigers is a home game for the Tomcats.

Another down note in the prospects for this game, and the rest of the season in general, is the physical well-being of the team. Gaudin said injuries are plaguing several of his players.

In spite of all this, Gaudin sounded positive as he said, "I hope this week's game will be a chance for us to improve our playing."

gone either way, and it did. We played very well."

He added that the team will continue to work as it has, preparing for each week's game with an eye toward doing the best it can.

"I'm satisfied with my players," he commented. "They're working really hard."

Local team to compete in national tennis tourney

The Gulf Coast Senior Ladies' 4.0 Volvo Team has been invited to compete in the 1990 National Championships in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Oct. 25-28.

This is the first year the senior leagues have been organized. They are sponsored by the United States Tennis Association and Volvo. Players must be at least 50 years old.

Each match in the Championships will consist of three doubles competitions. A team must win two of the three games to win the match.

The Gulf Coast team, captained by Cynthia Allen of Pass Christian, won the state championship in June by defeating Hattiesburg 3-0. At the Southern Regional Competition, held in New Orleans in July, Mississippi defeated Kentucky and Georgia 3-0, but lost to South Carolina 2-1 in a very close match.

He pointed out several times that the Tigers have improved as a team since the start of the season. The team, 1-5 for the season, nearly won against the Long Beach Bearcats last week at homecoming.

Gaudin said the painfully close-21-20 game "could have

USM travels to N.O. to take on Green Wave

Southern Mississippi Saturday will play its fifth of eight road games this season, when they take on Tulane in the Louisiana Superdome at 7 p.m.

The Golden Eagles and Green Wave meet for the 11th time in the two schools' history. USM holds a 6-4 series record and a three-game winning streak over the Wave.

Although the Eagles have sputtered on offense this season, the defense has picked up the slack. USM ranked 33rd in team defense before the East Carolina game.

The Golden Eagles through five games are sixth in the nation in turnover margin. USM has 17 takeaways (10 interceptions and seven fumbles) and just five giveaways (one interception and four fumbles).

Of the 91 points scored by the Eagles in five games this season, 59 have come as a direct result of turnovers.

All-America candidate Kerry Valrie spearheads the Eagles defensively. Valrie leads the team in interceptions with five, including two for touchdowns. He also has a 42-yard fumble return for a touchdown.

His three TD's are good for a tie for second place in scoring for the Eagles. Valrie is fourth in tackles for the Eagles, this season with 39.

Tulane (2-3) traveled to Memphis State last weekend after losing to Ole Miss, 31-21, Sept. 29 in Oxford.

After Tulane, USM returns home for its final home game Oct. 20, at 3 p.m. homecoming meeting against Memphis State.

Seats are still available and may be purchased at the Green Coliseum Ticket Office or by calling 601/266-5418 or 1-800-844-TICK in Mississippi only.

EARTHQUAKE PROTECTION

Earthquakes are a peril that the coast has never been concerned with until now. It now seems with all the scientific data available that our area may well be affected by a fault line to our north. Most insurance companies will provide earthquake coverage by an endorsement to an existing Homeowner or Dwelling Fire policy as well as on Commercial buildings. You should call your agent for further information on this valuable coverage.

Our agents would be most happy to discuss this coverage along with your home and commercial insurance needs. Just give us a call at the number listed below, or visit our office at 114 Main St., Bay St. Louis.

Bay High Players of Week

The Bay High Athletic Club has named Players of the Week for outstanding achievement on offense and defense during Friday night's game against Long Beach. Number 23 Kevin Gillum, left, was chosen Defensive Player of the Week. The sophomore defensive back is credited with four solo tackles, four initial hits and three assists. Number 12 Charlie Mitchell was named Offensive Player of the Week. The senior quarterback accumulated 272 yards and one touchdown pass. He rushed nine times for 33 yards and scored two touchdowns. Mitchell also punted three times for 40 yards. The Bay High Players of the Week awards are sponsored by La Villa's Hot Tamales Inc. of Waveland. (Photos by Jimmy Loiacano)

Pirates take on Pearl River Central

Special to the Echo
BY PATRICK MCKEE
The Pass Christian Pirates will meet the Pearl River Blue Devils in an away game Friday that begins at 7:30 p.m. It will be Pearl River's homecoming game, and Pirate head coach Joseph Brown anticipates a rough battle between the two teams.

"They're tough, he said in an interview Monday. "They have a good football team. We are going to have to be ready."

According to Brown, Pearl River's passing attack is one of the most dangerous elements of their team. "Their quarterback has thrown quite a few touchdowns this year. We are going to have to do something to disrupt their passing attack. They also have a pretty good running game," said Brown. "As for their defense, we expect to see a lot of stunts. We are going to have to work hard at picking up their blitz."

Brown pointed out, though, that Pirate quarterback Tracey Watts has done an outstanding job of anticipating the blitz this year. "He picks it up pretty well," he said.

Last week Pass Christian lost to East Central 21-14. Brown is concerned about getting his team mentally ready for this week's game.

"We have got to get our mental game back on track. The kids have to get into the right frame of mind. We have to put the past behind us and start thinking positive."

When asked what they will be concentrating on on the practice field, Brown replied: "We are going back to the basics, blocking and tackling."

"We didn't do well last Friday night. It was probably our worst effort all year. We just didn't execute."

Although the Pirates have not had many injuries this year, they still have a couple of key players who are questionable for the game against Pearl River.

Linebacker Jimmy Crawford is suffering from a bruised shoulder, and runningback Eldon Daniels is suffering from a fractured foot.

The Player of the Week Award for offense went to runningback Charles Lizana, and for the defense the honors were given to safety Burnell Dedeaux. No award was given to the special teams division this week.

Brown also pointed to the effort of Winfred Rials who scored both touchdowns for the Pirates.

"He had a couple of good runs," Brown said. "He did a fine job."

The game against Pearl River is a district game, and Brown is anxious to put another number in the win column. The Pirates have lost two district games so far this season, and they are 3-3 for the season.

"We have to execute," the Pirate head coach said. "We have to be mentally positive. The kids are going to have to do something for themselves."

PRC Wildcats look for win against E. Central

On paper, the Pearl River College Wildcats should be a pretty solid favorite over the East Central Warriors this week in Decatur.

The 5-1 Wildcats have lost only to Hinds, one of the South Division's top guns, while defeating both North Division leaders Northwest and Itawamba and arch-rivals Jones and Gulf Coast. For good measure, the Cats also knocked off East Mississippi along the way.

"We're taking East Central seriously," said Mike Nelson, the Wildcats' head coach.

"We can't afford to be looking down the road" when East Central is "up the road" this week.

East Central, a winner only twice this year, lost to a potent Mississippi Delta 23-17, fell 17-21 to the 5-1 Co-Lin Wolves and defeated Gulf Coast 20-7.

The Warriors bombed the Coahoma Tiges 45-19 and then lost to Holmes 20-14 before bowing out to the Hinds Eagles 28-12.

"You don't win games on paper," said Nelson. "The Warriors have a lot of talented athletes. They have not been blown out of any game as can be seen in the weekly scores."

In fact, the Warriors and Wildcats are both averaging nearly 17 points per game in 1990.

"There are several variables to be considered for this week's game," said Nelson. "It's their homecoming, it's an afternoon game, and the game is coming off our big win over rival Gulf Coast."

Last year the Wildcats defeated East Central 31-7 and in 1988 the Wildcats eased by 14-0. In 1987, however, at the Warriors homecoming, PRC was soundly defeated 21-0.

That shutout is only the second whitewash (Jones defeated PRC 31-0 in '89) since the 1984 season.

"We must play to our potential," said Nelson. "We must concentrate on the game at hand."

A. J. Kilpatrick, the Warriors' head coach, said the Wildcats were a good, strong football team. "We'll be doing our best to win," said Kilpatrick. "I'm anticipating a very successful homecoming."

This past week, Nelson was very complimentary of his starting offensive line. "That's the best they have played all year," he said. "They really made a difference in our offense."

PRC racked up 383 total yards against Gulf Coast while allowing the Bulldogs a minus-one yard rushing and 154 passing. Nelson pulled his first offensive unit in both the second, third and fourth quarters.

"I'm really impressed with the way my assistant coaches prepared their units for last week's game," said Nelson. "I'm sure they will have everyone ready for this week."

The entire offensive line received offensive honors for the week, while Bryant Fairley picked up the defensive player of the week laurels. Kicker Rene Suarez picked up the special teams player award.

Another PRC starter may miss this week's game. Defensive end Chris Monroe has reinjured his knee and is questionable. If Monroe is out, he will join starting quarterback Mel Hackbarth, linebacker Greg Touchstone and fullback Bourbon Womack on the sideline for the East Central game.

Nelson said it appeared Hackbarth and touchstone will be ready for the final game of the season against Co-Lin.

Bassin' with the pros

Earl Bentz
Steve Price

If you're a bass fisherman who aspires to fish professional tournaments, but you're so nervous you can hardly hit the water with a cast, take heart. Even today's best pros were beginners at one time.

"I fished my first professional tournament in 1980," remembers Denny Brauer, a member of the Evinrude Outboards Pro Staff and generally regarded as one of the sport's superstars today, "and I really had butterflies. I was fishing against established fishing stars I'd been reading about and considered as my heroes.

"As luck would have it," Brauer continues, "the very first place I stopped on the first day of practice I caught bass over six pounds on back to back casts. That helped ease the nervousness a lot."

It may have helped the nervousness, but it didn't help during the competition, as those six pounders did not bite again. Heading back to the final afternoon's weigh-in, Brauer realized he did not have enough bass to win any money, much less win the tournament.

Then luck smiled again. "I pulled into a little out-of-the-way spot and in the last five minutes of fishing I caught two bass over five pounds, enough to put me into 19th overall," says the Evinrude pro.

"That tournament was probably one of the most important of my career," Brauer continues, "because I learned two very good lessons I've never forgotten.

"The first is that you're fishing against the fish, not the other anglers. Block them out of your mind and don't worry about how good they are or how many fish they might be catching when you're not catching any. Concentrate on catching your fish.

"The second lesson is that a tournament isn't over until the final gun. In the years since that first tournament, I have won tournaments in the last few minutes, catching not just one bass, but several. A friend once caught over 20 pounds of bass in the last 15 minutes of a tournament, and until then had not even had a strike all day.

"You can't give up," Brauer feels the mental attitude an angler carries with him throughout a tournament often determines how well that angler performs.

"We face a lot of adverse conditions during a week-long competition," he explains, "and it's easy to get discouraged and start doubting your own ability to catch bass. The best anglers I know are those who can block that out and keep thinking the very next cast will bring a strike."

OMC System Matched Parts & Accessories offers a partially synthetic outboard lubricant designed for today's high performance V-6 outboards. Called Johnson GT and Evinrude XP High Performance Lubricant, OMC says the product offers better engine protection at high RPMs, reduces piston scuffing and ring sticking and reduces carbon build-up.

BMR seeks input on oyster ordinance

The shellfish management staff of the Bureau of Marine Resources is reviewing state oyster regulations for possible changes and is looking for comments from oystermen, oyster dealers, processors and the general public.

John Cirino, BMR shellfish coordinator, said that a questionnaire was recently mailed to oyster fishermen who held licenses for the 1989-90 season in an attempt to get suggestions in updating the state's oyster ordinance.

Any oysterman who did not receive a questionnaire can get one by calling the BMR in Biloxi at (601) 385-5916.

Cirino said a letter will soon be mailed to all shellfish processors seeking their comments.

Anyone may pick up a copy of the state oyster ordinance at the BMR office just west of Edgewater Mall or at the BMR laboratory at the intersection of Oak Street and Bayview Drive in Biloxi.

Comments may be mailed to Beverly Allen, shellfish biologist, Bureau of Marine Resources, 2620 Beach Blvd. Biloxi, 39531.

A public hearing on proposed changes will be held sometime in October. No date has been set.

Cirino said public comment will be considered in any ordinance changes to be proposed to the Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks.

Lunch, anyone?

USM homecoming run/walk set Oct. 20

Participants who register by Oct. 15 will receive T-shirts at check-in for the University of Southern Mississippi's seventh annual USM Homecoming Run/Walk planned for Saturday, Oct. 20.

Shirts will be mailed following homecoming to those who register after Oct. 15.

The five-kilometer (3.1 miles) run is sponsored by the USM Alumni Association, USM Division of Recreational Sports, Hattiesburg Coca-Cola Bottling Co. and Hattiesburg American to benefit the Live Golden Eagle Program. Proceeds will be used for the upkeep of USM's live golden eagle mascot, Nugget II.

The check-in time for runners on race day will be 7:30-8:15 a.m. The race will begin at 8:30 a.m.

Walkers will register from 8:15-8:30 a.m. Oct. 20. The two-mile walk will be held entirely on the USM campus and also begins at 8:30 a.m.

Overall trophies will be awarded to the first male and female runners to finish. First-place trophies also will be presented to the first runner finishing behind the overall winners in each age division.

Registration fees for the run at $7 per person through Oct.

15, and $10 after Oct. 15.

Walkers may register through Oct. 15 for $7 per person, $15 per family of father, mother and child or $20 per family of father, mother and all children. After Oct. 15, add $2 per person.

For more information, contact USM's Division of Recreational Sports at (601) 266-5405.

March of Dimes fundraiser challenges public to walk

The annual March of Dimes "WalkAmerica" fundraiser is planned for Saturday, October 20.

Walkers are asked to register at 8 a.m. at the front of the Bay St. Louis bridge. The 10k walk will end at Buccaneer Park in Waveland.

Lunch will be served to all participants courtesy of Pizza Hut, Coca-Cola and Subway Sandwiches.

Groups already signed up for the walk include Hancock Insurance, GE Plastics, Coldwell Banker, Hancock Bank, Hancock Medical Center,

KMart,

Bay Technical Associates, Coast Electric, WalMart, Peoples Federal, Merchants Bank and student organizations at Bay High School and Hancock High.

Prizes will be provided by Colortyme TV for persons bringing in the most money. A $100 savings bond will be awarded to the child raising the most money. Other prizes will be tickets to "Moscow on Ice" and a 10-speed bicycle.

Last year's event raised

$7,775 for March of Dimes. Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson will be event chairman.

For additional information, contact the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, 467-9048.

Farragut, Welch, Jenkins named CES standout players

Junior Adam Farragut was named the Coast Episcopal Booster Club Player of the Week on offense and ninth graders Terry Welch and Joey Jenkins shared Defensive Player of the Week honors.

Farragut rushed for 153 yards on 20 carries and also caught a pass for two points in his first start as tailback for the Raiders. He also scored on a 35-yard touchdown run.

Welch and Jenkins combined for 11 tackles filling in for seniors Damion Lawyer and Clay Adams. Welch collected five solo tackles, with Jenkins adding six.

Shiyou family reunion slated

The annual Shiyou family reunion for 1990 will be Sunday, Oct. 14 beginning at 10 a.m. at Kiln VFW Post 6285. All relatives are invited and are asked to bring a covered dish.

Bay Jr. High player honored

Number 22 Leroy Hawkins was honored by the Bay High Athletic Club as Junior High Player of the Week. The defensive linebacker had eight solo tackles and four initial hits and four assists. He carried the ball eight times for 82 yards. The Player of the Week award is sponsored by La Villa's Hot Tamales in Waveland.

Hunter safety courses slated

A hunter safety course is slated for the following dates in Bay St. Louis: October 17, 19, 22 and 24.

Classes will be from 6-9 p.m. in the Mississippi Power Company building, which is located on Highway 90 next to the Bay St. Louis library.

Preregistration is mandatory due to limited seating and materials. For additional information, call Antoine Boyd at 467-5108.

Learning centers for literacy are currently located in Bay St. Louis, Kiln, Waveland, Diamondhead, Dedeaux, Clermont Harbor and Pearlington.

Call the Bay St. Louis Library, 467-5282, for information. Persons who wish to teach adults to read as volunteer literacy tutors are also encouraged to call.

American Cancer Society

Assistance to victims of cancer is available through local chapters of the American Cancer Society.

Necessary items for patients, such as dressings, ostomy and sickroom supplies are available to those in need. Equipment which may be loaned to patients includes wheelchairs and hospital beds.

Assistance is available for transportation to qualifying hospitals.

Several rehabilitation programs are offered, including "Reach To Recovery", in which volunteers who have had mastectomies visit new breast cancer patients (with approval of physician) to assist in emotional, physical and psychological rehabilitation.

Support programs are also available to ostomy and laryngectomy patients.

American Cancer Society service request forms are available by contacting the Gulfport office at 896-7024.

Bay-Waveland Crisis Pregnancy Center

The Bay-Waveland Crisis Pregnancy Center offers free counseling, pregnancy tests, maternity and baby clothes.

Located on Highway 90, next to the Unique Shoppe in Waveland, the center offers a 24-hour hotline, 467-3444.

Blood Pressure

Retired Senior Volunteer Program sponsors free blood pressure testing Tuesdays, 9:30-11:30 a.m., American Legion Post No. 77, Waveland; Wednesdays, 10:30-11:30 a.m., RSVP office, Senior Citizens Center, Old Spanish Trail, Bay St. Louis.

Hancock Medical Center Women's Auxiliary (Pink Ladies) conducts free blood pressure testing at the hospital, 10-11:30 a.m. Tuesdays.

Legal Line

Volunteer attorneys answer legal questions from the general public from 6 to 7 p.m., first Wednesdays at 1-374-4160. The service is sponsored by Harrison County Young Lawyers, South Mississippi Planning and Development District Area Agency on Aging and South Mississippi Legal Services Corporation.

Jobs for Mississippi Graduates

Seniors at Hancock High School who plan to go directly to work after graduation may enroll in the Jobs for Mississippi Graduates Program (JMG), for assistance in locating quality jobs after graduation.

The program, which is one of six in the state, seeks to enhance employability skills. For additional information, contact Mark France at Hancock High School at 467-2251.

Money Management

The Consumer Money Management Center serves the public by providing free financial consultations as well as informational literature and seminars for employers, educational institutions and civic and professional groups.

Information and assistance from the center relates to various aspects of personal money management including budgeting, credit repayment, insurance, and investments.

The service is sponsored by Mississippi State University and Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service. To set up an appointment call Hancock County Extension Office, 467-5456.

Senior Citizens Center

Located in the Valena C. Jones Bldg. at 301 Old Spanish Trail in Bay St. Louis, the center serves Hancock County citizens 60 plus years of age.

Under the Hancock County Human Resource Agency, the center provides classes in ceramics, macramé, art, quilting, counted cross stitch, silk flowers, Christmas ornaments, framing, wood working and various other crafts. A morning snack is provided with donations from various clubs and businesses.

The center has a contract to provide 30 home delivered meals a day to those seniors who cannot provide for themselves, and 35 meals for those who have a need for a hot well-balanced meal daily in the cafeteria at the center.

Transportation is provided through a contract with Coast Area Transportation for most seniors in the county to bring them into the center, or to take them to the grocery, doctor, etc.

The contract with Methodist Senior Services provides two homemakers for about two hours a week to homebound, needy seniors to do light housekeeping or errands for them.

For more information, call the center at 467-9292 from 7:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

St. Vincent Thrift Store

Waveland Conference, St. Vincent de Paul Society operates a thrift store, Waveland Civic Center, Coleman Avenue, 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Tuesdays, Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays. Proceeds benefit needy regardless of race or religion. 467-0703. Interviews for information, referral and assistance services are conducted Wednesdays between 1-3 p.m.

NO OTHER BUILDER CAN CLAIM AS MANY HOMES

VICTORIAN
3 Bedrooms-2 1/2 Baths
1583 Sq. Ft. Living Area

Jim Walter Homes has by far built and financed more individual homes than any other builder, either locally, within the state, or throughout the nation. WE CHALLENGE ANY OTHER BUILDER TO CLAIM MORE.

WHAT DOES THIS MEAN TO YOU? It means that when Jim Walter builds for you on your property, we'll give you as much home for the money as we possibly can. It means financing will be handled fast, with little or no effort on your part. In most cases approval is within 48 hours instead of days or weeks required by most others. And application fees, points, closing costs...they're all unheard of with Jim Walter.

OVER 20 MODELS BUILT ON YOUR PROPERTY TO ALMOST ANY STAGE OF COMPLETION UP TO 90%.

When Jim Walter builds for you it means construction can begin as soon as details and permits are cleared. You'll be able to select from over 20 models in desirable styles and sizes. In most cases you won't even be bothered with the costs of surveys or legal fees. Just as we have for over 280,000 families in the past, we make every effort to make building on your property as easy and trouble-free as possible.

NO DOWN PAYMENT
10% A.P.R. Fixed-Rate Mortgage Financing. NO "POINTS" or CLOSING COSTS to qualified property owners.

In addition to offering the lowest possible prices on the homes we build, and low annual percentage rate financing, we offer a COMPLETION ALLOWANCE of up to $2000 toward purchase of items of permanent improvement such as well, floor covering, landscaping, etc.

For any cash payment made at the time you agree to purchase one of our standard model homes, we'll offer an additional credit of 15% of the amount paid, either down payment or total price. This does not apply to our Regency Series Homes.

No other discounts and/or promotions apply.

Stennis Space Center hosts environmental workshop

NASA's John C. Stennis Space Center hosted an environmental education workshop for middle and junior high school teachers and youth group leaders Oct. 3 in the Teacher Resource Center.

Foresters from the Mississippi Forestry Commission facilitated the "Project Learning Tree" (PLT) workshop. PLT is an award-winning program designed to expand the skills of educators in the area of conservation, resource management and the environment.

In addition to presentations by representatives of the forestry commission, Hugh Carr from the Science and Technology Laboratory at Stennis Space Center discussed NASA's use of remote sensing technology in forestry research.

Project Learning Tree is a nationally-recognized environmental curriculum. Since its inception in 1977, PLT has reached nearly 200,000 educators and millions of students in the United States and three foreign countries. It was first introduced in Mississippi in 1987 and has trained more than 1,000 of the state's educators.

According to Dianne Dewees of Stennis Space Center's Teacher Resource Center, the goal of Project Learning Tree is to "help educators learn to develop students' attitudes, knowledge, skills and commitments to make informed decisions regarding the environment."

Participants received a ready-to-use PLT activity guide, containing lessons and action-oriented activities that deal with all facets of the environment including wildlife, water, forests and soils.

Workshops at the Teacher Resource Center are scheduled throughout the remainder of the school year. They are all free to participants from all local area schools.

"Aeronautics for Educators" (secondary level) will be presented November 2-3 and "Biological Diversity" (middle school and up) will be offered November 16.

Reservations for workshops may be made by calling 688-3338.

Project Learning Tree

Teachers from Diamondhead Academy and Coast Episcopal Elementary were among those attending a free environmental education seminar, "Project Learning Tree", last week at Stennis Space Center. From left are Paula Carrie-Morel, DA; facilitator Maurice Mitchell, Mississippi Forestry Commission; Malin Chamberlain and Lyn Oertling, CES. The two private schools were the only local schools in attendance. (Echo staff photo by Janet McQueen)

Middle school students highlight drug awareness

To kick off National Drug Awareness Month, the Bay Middle School PTO recently sponsored a school-wide banner contest.

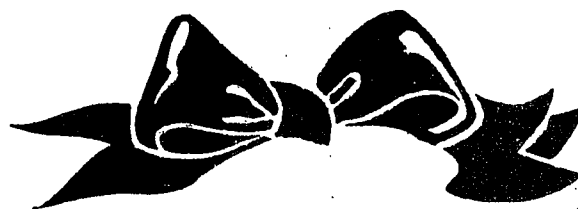

Winners in each grade were chosen from the 24 entries, and prizes and ribbons were awarded. Many of the winning banners are being displayed at several community locations throughout October. The banners will be taken back to Bay Middle School in time for Red Ribbon Week, nationally observed Oct. 20-28 and at Bay Middle School Oct. 22-26.

During Red Ribbon Week, students will participate in Red Out Day, Oct. 25, by wearing red clothing to school and by signing pledges to remain drug-free.

Red Ribbon Week is an outgrowth of the Red Ribbon Campaign, begun in Illinois and Virginia as a response to the death of Enrique Camarena, a U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration agent who was killed in Mexico by drug dealers. What began as a regional commemoration has turned into a national event, with help from the National Federation of Parents.

"Don't Touch This"; Carroll North's fifth grade students with "Steer Clear of Drugs"; and Jana Phillippi's resource class with "Run to the Bright Side of Life." Also shown with the resource class is Yvonne Landry (back row at right), Youth Court administrator and one of the banner contest judges.

Bay High juniors take first place with homecoming float entry.

Impressions of homecoming broaden 'American experience' for French exchange student Editors Note: Benoit Fayet is an 18-year-old native of Carentan, France, visiting for three weeks in the United States. He is a guest in the home of Anthony and Jeannie Moran of Bay St. Louis and is studying English with Kathy Edwards, BHS French teacher.

Special to the Echo By Benoit Fayet

It was the first time I heard about homecoming. What a big surprise! I didn't know that a lot of work was needed to prepare this celebration. Since I was with Mrs. Kathy Edwards' class, I helped them to prepare the float.

First, students have to give money to buy the material. Some teachers imagine the topic of their float, then organize the different activities to make the Tiger and the Bearcats.

From Monday, Oct. 1 until Thursday, the 4th, every float was in the army, and every evening, the people who wanted to participate came from 6 to 10 o'clock to work hard on their float.

We had to put the cardboard on the frame, put on the chicken wire, fold the sheets of colored papers and put them in the holes of the chicken wire.

Some of the seniors and juniors had brought a radio, so that we could work in rhythm. That kept us awake, because we were very tired.

To me, Thursday was the most difficult day. We had to work until the float was finished. The last student left the army at 2 a.m., but I left before; I couldn't work so late.

Anyway, every float was ready for the next day. As a matter of fact, Friday the 5th, was the big day. I could see everybody anxious about the competition between the floats.

At 4 p.m. the parade took place. Policemen and official cars (seniors, juniors, sophomores, freshmen) were present to complete the four floats. The Bay High Band played a lot of music.

Seeing this was great. In France, we don't have homecoming. It's very interesting to discover foreign habits, because I've been given new ideas about the country, and when I leave, I'll be pleased to have seen a typical homecoming.

At the same time, during this week, games were fixed at 11:50 a.m. at Bay High School. We had to play for five minutes against seniors (for example, basketball).

At 7:30 p.m., the famous football game was played: Tigers against Bearcats. Even if the Tigers lost, I saw a real match, because in France we don't play football. I tried to understand the game, but it was a good thing someone explained the main rules to me.

I saw the excitement of the fans, but at the same time, the atmosphere was relaxed by the Bay High and the Long Beach bands. Anyway, the football players gave me a chance to discover an American sport, which to me, is a little bit violent.

At 9:30 p.m. a dance was held. Photos of couples were taken, because everybody was well-dressed. We danced till 1 a.m., but I'm not used to listening to this kind of music (rap music). Anyway, I could talk with people. I could share for once what they do every year.

Homecoming was, for me, a good experience. I didn't imagine how important this was for American people. They want to perpetuate traditions.

Hearing-impaired poster child sought

The Gulf Coast chapter of Quota, a professional women's organization which supports the local hearing impaired community, in conjunction with the Council for Better Hearing and Speech, announces the council's annual poster child competition.

The contest winner will serve as a spokesperson for the council and the more than 24 million Americans with communication problems.

Additionally, the winner will be featured nationally in the media and will be brought to Washington D.C. to participate in the council's May 1991 campaign kickoff.

For more information and an official entry form contact Sandra Smith c/o Hancock Bank, P.O. Box 4019 Gulfport, MS 39502 or call (601) 868-4605.

All entries must be received no later than Oct. 30.

Hancock accreditation rates top score

Based on the Spring 1990 administration of the Basic Skills Assessment Program (BSAP), Functional Literacy Exam (FLE), and Stanford Achievement Tests (SAT), Hancock County Schools have merited a Level 3 performance rating from the State Department's Commission on School Accreditation. Level 3 was the highest given to school districts across Mississippi.

Based on State Board of Education policy, reports listing the 18 outcome measures along with district mean scores are sent to school districts each year and minimum values reported on.

JITNEY JUNGLE PRESENTS
BISCUIT-MAKING & CANE MILL
The ever-popular biscuit-making and cane mill returns to delight fairgoers daily. In 1989, more than 120,000 hot biscuits, complete with syrup were served free to fairgoers. Employees of the Department of Agriculture bake the biscuits and supervise the making of molasses at an old-fashioned, mule-drawn cane mill.
